DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 16-18, 20-26, 28-34, 36-42, 44-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Morohashi (US 2001/0030827 A1), hereinafter “Morohashi” and in view of Morohashi (US 2004/0223245 A1), hereinafter “Morohashi-2”.

As per claim 1, Morohashi teaches an information processing apparatus comprising:

- “a networking device that communicates with an external apparatus” at Fig. 6;
- “a storage that stores an album of a plurality of content data and a transfer log indicating whether each of the plurality of content data has been transferred to the external apparatus” at [0124]-[0131]; and Fig. 5;
- “a processing unit configured to identify certain content data from the plurality of content data of the album when the transfer log indicates that certain content data has never been transferred to the external apparatus” at [0154]-[0170];
- “the processing unit further configured to control a display of information about the album, the processing unit further configured to start a transfer of the certain content data to the external apparatus, when the album has been selected and the certain content data has never been transferred to the external apparatus" at [0154]-[0170] and Fig. 8;

- "and the processing unit further configured to update the transfer log when the networking device transfers the certain content data to the external apparatus" at [0147].

Morohashi does not explicitly teach identifying certain content data "upon a reception of a device ID of the external apparatus from the external apparatus" as claimed. However, Morohashi teaches at [0136] a similar system wherein the portable apparatus also has a unique ID for distinguishing the portable apparatus individually from others. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to combine Morohashi's teachings so that "it is possible to create a list of programs applicable only to a specific portable recording and playback apparatus" as suggested by Morohashi-2 at [0136].

As per claim 17, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 16 discussed above. Morohashi-2 also teaches: wherein "when the networking device receives the device ID from the external apparatus, the processing unit identifies the transfer log based on the device ID" at [0136].

As per claim 18, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 16 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches: wherein "the processing unit is further configured to determine albums including the certain content data and to determine other content data held in the albums for a transfer to the external apparatus" at Fig. 8.

As per claim 20, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 16 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches: wherein "the processing unit is further configured to cause a display device to display information about albums including the certain content data and, upon a selection of the albums in response to the displayed information, to transfer other content data from the selected albums to the external apparatus" at [0094]-[0096] and Figs. 5, 8.

As per claim 21, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 20 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches: wherein "the processing unit is further configured to cause the display device to display the information about the albums based on the transfer log of the certain content data" at [0094]-[0096] and Figs. 5, 8.

As per claim 22, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 16 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches: wherein "the processing unit is further configured to determine albums having only content data that has never been transferred to the external apparatus and to determine content data held in the albums to be transferred to the external apparatus" at [0154]-[0170] and Fig. 8.

As per claim 23, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 22 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches: wherein "the processing unit is further configured to determine the content data to be transferred to the external apparatus based on the transfer log" at [0154]-[0170] and Fig. 8.

As per claim 24, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 16 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches: wherein "the processing unit is further configured to cause a display device to display information about albums having only content data that has never been transferred to the external apparatus and, upon a selection of the album in response to the displayed information, to transfer content data from the selected albums to the external apparatus" at [0094]-[0096] and Figs. 5, 8.

As per claim 25, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 24 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches: wherein "the processing unit is further configured to cause the display device to display the information about the albums based on the transfer log" at [0094]-[0096] and Figs. 5, 8.

As per claim 26, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 16 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches: wherein "the processing unit is further configured to acquire the transfer log from the external apparatus" at Figs. 6A-C.

As per claim 28, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 16 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches; wherein "the certain content data is defined by a song" at [0004].

As per claim 29, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 16 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches: wherein “the networking device transfers the certain content data to the external apparatus based on a determination whether the certain content data has previously been transferred to the external apparatus” at [0154]-[0170] and Fig. 8.

As per claim 30, Morohashi and Morohashi-2 teach the apparatus of claim 29 discussed above. Morohashi also teaches: wherein “the networking device transfers the certain content data to the external apparatus when the determination indicates that the certain content data has not previously been transferred to the external apparatus” at [0154]-[0170] and Fig. 8.

Claims 31-34, 36-42, 44-46 recite similar limitations as in claims 16-18, 20-26, 28- 30 and are therefore rejected by the same reasons.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 2/7/2012 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The examiner respectfully traverses applicant's arguments.

Applicant argued that the Morohashi's 245 reference (US 2004/0223245 A1) is not qualify as prior art because the application entitles to the foreign priority date of February 25, 2004. The examiner respectfully submits that the earliest effective filing date of the Morohashi's 245 reference is September 20, 2000 (Division of application 09/665,786 filed on Sep. 20, 2000). Morohashi's 245 is therefore a proper 102(e) reference and the rejection based upon Morahashi is therefore sustain.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
